DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. Claims 1, 2, 6 and 7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Mishra et al. (US 6610144).

Mishra discloses a substrate comprising a base material being made of c-faced sapphire single crystal (110) and an AlN film (Column 6, lines 16-28) formed by vapor deposition and further comprising an intermediate nitride layer (column 2, lines 10-14).

A "product by process" claim is directed to the product per se, no matter how actually made, In re Brown, 173 USPQ 685; In re Luck, 177 USPQ 523; In re Fessmann, 180 USPQ 324; In re Avery, 186 USPQ 161; In re Wertheim, 191 USPQ 90 (209 USPQ 554 does not deal with this issue); In re Marosi et al, 218 USPQ 289; and particularly In re Thorpe, 227 USPQ 964, all of which make it clear that it is the patentability of the final product per se which must be determined in a "product by process" claim, and not the patentability of the process, and that an old or obvious product produced by a new method is not patentable as a product, whether claimed in "product by process" claims or not. Note that applicant has the burden of proof in such cases, as the above case law makes clear. The method of forming a device is not germane to the issue of patentability of the device itself. Therefore, the limitations of MOCVD and the raw materials used have not been given patentable weight.

Art Unit: 2834

3. With regards to claim 6, it is known in the art that a substrate made of a c-faced sapphire single crystal and a piezoelectric film made of AlN and interdigital electrodes are used in SAW devices as disclosed by Ieki et al. (US 5061870); Tanaka et al. (US6275123); Tsubouchi et al. (US 5905449) and Okano et al. (US 5498920).

Response to Arguments

4. Applicant's arguments filed on February 7, 2004 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

As Applicants acknowledge, the disclosure of Mishra allows for an AlN layer over the sapphire substrate. Although Mishra does not disclose the claimed FWHM crystallinity values, one with ordinary skill in the art would be able to modify this values for an AlN film within the scope of the invention in order to provide a semiconductor film having a reduced dislocation density (Mishra, Summary of the invention).

Applicants have failed to disclose the importance of the surface flatness value. Mishra discloses the claimed invention except for the limitation of the surface flatness of 20 Å. It would have been obvious at the time of the invention was made to use other surface flatness value, since it has been held that discovering an optimum value of a result effective variable involves only routine skill in the art. In re Boesch, 617 F.2nd 272, 205 USPQ 215 (CCPA 1980).

Other than the claimed values, which have been addressed above, the claimed structure failed to structurally distinguish from that of the Prior Art as disclosed by Mishra.

Conclusion

5. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

Art Unit: 2834

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
